*“Whoever touches the life of the child,
touches the most sensitive point of a whole which has roots in the most distant past and climbs toward the infinite future.”
Maria Montessori*

Montessori Philosophy

Children enter the world gifted by nature. With the adult's help in preparing a beautiful, supportive environment conducive to the child's development, the child can carry out the important task of constructing his personality. It is a ceaseless and intense labour, carried out with great joy when assisted by the unconscious powers which nature bestows on the child during the first six years of life.

This was the great discovery that Maria Montessori made: that the child creates himself as he interacts with the environment, revealing the person that he can become. That is the primary task of the child. The universality of her discovery of the child has been proven over 100 years throughout the world, with children in all cultural, social, physical and psychological conditions.

Montessori describes education as an aid to life, as a means of supporting and nurturing the continual unfolding of each child's personality. Based on careful, systematic observation of children and their needs and interests at each level of development, the Montessori approach to early childhood education recognizes the tremendous developmental achievements of each child.

The Montessori Prepared Environment for Children 0 to 3

The first three years of life are the most fundamental in the development of human beings and their potential. The infant's physical development is phenomenal and apparent and inspires our care and attention. Yet a profound and less obvious development is taking place within the child. Montessori refers to the child at this period as the spiritual embryo. A second embryonic period occurs after birth during the first three years of life when the child's intelligence is formed, when the child acquires the culture and language into which he or she is born. It is a period when the core of personality, social being and the essence of spiritual life are developed. An understanding of the child's development and the development of the human mind allows environments to be prepared to meet the needs of the infant and foster independence, psychomotor development and language acquisition.

Communities for Children under Three

For children under the age of three, there are several Montessori environments. Created especially for working parents, a Nido is an environment prepared for children from 2 or 3 months until they are walking well. The Parent-Infant class provides a setting in which parents and their children, aged two to twelve months, are gathered under the care of a trained adult. After they begin to walk, the children join the Infant Community where their primary motor coordination, independence and language are cultivated. Rather than a classroom, it is a nurturing environment where very young children experience their first structured contact with other children.

Mother and child attend a Parent-Infant Class

“Already we have found it reasonable to suppose that the child, at birth, bears within him constructive possibilities, which must unfold by activity in his environment. He comes from nothing, in the sense that he has no psychic qualities, nor pre-established powers of movement, but he has in himself potentialities which determine his development, and this will take its characteristics from the world about him.” (Absorbent Mind, p.53)

Nido, Italian for 'nest'. This is a prepared environment for children from 3 months to walking age. The Nido serves as an alternative to the home environment for working parents. There are four main areas comprising physical care, movement, feeding, and sleeping designed specifically for caring for the child. An emphasis on attachment occurs during this delicate and important stage of life. Since the child is in a critical stage of sensory development, the Nido is a prepared environment rich in beautiful and inviting sensory experiences. As soon as the child begins walking, s/he transitions into the Infant Community.

Montessori Infant Community (walking to 2 ½ or 3 years) When the child begins to walk, his hands are free to begin important work within his environment. Every activity within the Infant Community has a specific purpose for personal development and is shown to each infant in a manner that enables him/her to make independent choices. Each material and lesson is provocative, enticing and simple. It becomes a vibrant community of children, where the children not only choose activities independently, but learn to interact socially in a variety of ways. One is struck by the wonderful natural spirit of co-operation that develops spontaneously and naturally. Children transition from the Infant Community to the Montessori Primary Casa environment.

Association Montessori Internationale (AMI)

The Association Montessori Internationale (AMI) was founded in 1929 by Maria Montessori to maintain the integrity of her life's work, and to ensure that it would be perpetuated after her death. AMI is the recognized international authority on Montessori education. During its long history AMI has fostered the growth and development of Montessori programs and teacher training, and worked to support the development and education of children and young adults in a vast variety of settings throughout the world. AMI is a Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) associated with the United Nations Department of Public Information (since 1985) and an NGO in operational relations with UNESCO (since 1962).

AMI's Objectives The objectives of the Association are to uphold, propagate and further the pedagogical principles and practice formulated by Dr. Maria Montessori for the full development of the human being. The Association aims to establish these objectives by all lawful means and in particular by:

- a. Upholding the rights of the child in society, and making known the child's importance for the progress of civilization;
- b. Making known the natural laws of growth in order to help the child to develop naturally in the family, school and society;
- c. Awakening public opinion with regard to the moral dignity of the child as 'the Father of Man', and to make clear the true nature of adult responsibility toward the child as the worker whose spontaneous activity produces the full-grown man;
- d. Spreading and upholding the pedagogical principles and practice formulated by Dr. Maria Montessori, which ensure the independence of the child's personality through successive stages of growth until he reaches full normal development by means of his own activity;
- e. Providing opportunities wherever possible for children to develop normally, thereby helping all adults to enter into a new life of harmony and co-operation with children; and by thus unifying the two fundamental phases of human life, to lead the way to a higher and more peaceable civilization;
- f. Functioning as a social movement that will strive to obtain recognition for the rights of the child throughout the world, irrespective of race, religion, political and social beliefs; co-operating with other bodies and organizations which further the development of education, human rights and peace.

Why Take AMI Training?

Founded by Dr. Maria Montessori The Association Montessori Internationale (AMI), founded in 1929 by Dr. Maria Montessori, is a global community which continues today to protect the integrity of her work.

A Guarantee of Quality The Association Montessori Internationale affiliates training centres throughout the world. These centres offer AMI diploma courses which are recognized worldwide for their excellence and authenticity. The training is essentially the same in each centre. Training centres affiliated to AMI remain under the constant supervision of AMI, are staffed by AMI Teacher Trainers and each course is examined by an external examiner appointed by AMI.

Knowledgeable Trainers Make the Difference Every AMI course is conducted by an AMI Director of Training. These dedicated trainers have extensive teaching experience, an academic background, have participated in a rigorous Training of Trainers Program and possess in-depth knowledge and understanding of Montessori principles and applications.

Why Take Face-to-Face Training

The Montessori approach offers a broad vision of education as an aid to life. It is designed to help children with their task of inner construction as they grow from childhood to maturity. It succeeds because it draws its principles from the natural development of the child. Its flexibility provides a matrix within which each individual child's inner directives freely guide the child toward wholesome growth.

The preparation of the adult about to undertake work with young children demands a high degree of self-discipline and commitment, and a professional attitude. This preparation can be achieved only through immersion in the Montessori theory under the supervision of experienced lecturers. Furthermore, the special activities used with babies, infants and toddlers in a Montessori prepared environment – home, Nido, or Infant Community - require individual training. Fundamental aspects and essential details cannot be covered in sufficient depth by means of distance learning programs.

Courses are offered in modules according to the format approved by the AMI Scientific Pedagogy Group. The course program includes lectures, seminars and demonstrations covering Montessori philosophy, child development and information on the presentation of Montessori materials. Each course also includes significant components of observation, practicum, practice using the materials, and material making. Students prepare individual albums which detail the purpose, use and presentation of each piece of material. The intensity of being immersed daily in the course, with expert guidance, makes the course a unique personal experience that will become an engaging journey of personal discovery and professional growth.

“The child builds his inmost self out of the deeply felt impressions he receives, and his especially in the first part of his life. It is in babyhood, by means of his infantile powers alone, that the child acquires personal characteristics that will mark him forever—those of his language, his religion his race and so on. This is his way of adapting to the world in which he finds himself. In doing so, he is happy and his mind matures.” (Absorbent Mind, 102)

Course Calendar and Location:

The Assistants to Infancy Course occurs over two summers, 2017 and 2018 at our beautiful new Assistants to Infancy campus located at 1410 Nanton Avenue, Vancouver, BC, a satellite campus of the MTCBC. Course requirements between summers are personally scheduled by the student and occur off campus. The course is two summers with classes held daily from 8:00am to 4:30pm. Between the two summers, students must complete written assignments, arrange observations of infants and toddlers, and practice for a week in a Montessori Infant Community directed by a guide who holds the AMI A to I Diploma.

First summer: June 19 – August 25, 2017

The first summer's work begins with an overview of Montessori theory and practice, following the child's natural development, and focusing on the period from conception to age three. Obstetrics, hygiene, and nutrition cover the anatomy and physiology of reproduction, fetal development, birth, health issues, and the puerperium (the first eight weeks after birth). We study the preparation of supportive and beautiful environments and their adaptation to the child's changing needs; emphasis is on the home and family environment, but easily applied to group settings. Written assignments are handed in regularly throughout the summer. The first summer ends with a written exam and conference.

Between the two summers: September 2017 to May 2018

The requirements are scheduled by the student. Students complete 250 hours of observation of children from birth to three, at home and in group settings. Each student arranges a Practicum with children in a Montessori Infant Community directed by an AMI Assistants to Infancy Diploma holder who will evaluate the Practicum. If a visit is required by a course staff member, travel and lodging expenses are the student's responsibility. Observation assignments are handed in regularly during this period.

Second summer: June 25 – August 31, 2018

The second summer adds a study of child neuropsychiatry and of environments for children from 12 to 36 months in an Infant Community (out of home setting), including appropriate materials and activities. Written assignments are handed in regularly throughout the summer. Written and oral exams are given at the end of the second summer.
